Activity description:

We took part in a Coastal Cleanup Drive held at Prabhadevi Beach, where our main task was to collect and segregate plastic waste for recycling. Early in the morning, we boarded a train and then a taxi to reach the beach by 8 a.m. The organisers welcomed us and briefed everyone on safety and procedure. Around 100 volunteers had joined the event, and each group was given a large trash bag along with gloves and masks.

We began our cleanup right after the instructions, carefully removing sand from every piece of plastic before placing it into the bags. By around 10:30 to 11:00 a.m., our group had filled nearly five to six bags of waste. All the collected bags were gathered in one spot for disposal and recycling.

To document our work, we clicked geotagged photos using the GPS Map Camera app, capturing the “before” and “after” views of the beach. The event ended with a cheerful group photo and some delicious samosas provided by the organisers. We returned home feeling tired but deeply content, knowing we had contributed to a cleaner and healthier coastline.

No. of participants: Us 4 joined about 100 participants.

Conclusion: The activity ended with a deep sense of satisfaction, knowing we had contributed to making the beach cleaner and healthier. Working with the organisation taught us how collected plastic is properly handled and recycled. The cleanup not only restored the beauty of the shoreline but also spread awareness about reducing plastic use, disposing waste responsibly, and adopting sustainable habits. It was a valuable experience that inspired teamwork, a sense of responsibility, and greater respect for nature.

The beach cleaning drive we were supposed to attend on 14th September 2025 at Girgaon Chowpatty was postponed due to heavy rains. So, we had to conduct our CES activity on the 20th September 2025. The screenshot of the postponement is attached below.
